The World is on the Move Toward Green Supply Chains

Every August my wife and I enjoy a week in northern Wisconsin watching eagles soar over the lake and listening to loons. ... the dock gave me time to reflect on the recent progress Leonardo Academy has made in the advancement of sustainability.

Leonardo Academy has long been an advocate of putting the competitive market to work to improve the environment. The ... course, it is hard for suppliers to ignore these requests, particularly when they originate from their primary clients.

Over the past year it has been exciting to see a number of big companies and organizations begin to use their influence ... going to green its supply chain starting with a focus on emissions. Several other companies are following suit as well.

We at Leonardo Academy believe that this bodes well for market-driven environmental and sustainability improvements, ... success of the supply chain greening initiatives, and we look forward to the continuation and growth of these efforts.

LEED Green Associate Training Fall Program

In September Leonardo Academy launched our fall series of LEED Green Associate training sessions. We are delivering the ... Washington, DC at the National Geographic Society and both were well attended. We'll be delivering the training again on October 19 in New York City at the Milliken Show room, and via webinar on November 9-10.

Leonardo Academy believes the Green Associate Accreditation is an important new tool for advancing the green building ... (2) a stepping stone to specific rating system accreditation for those who want to move up the ladder of accreditation.
